HOME FOR MONTH

JASON KILLGORE WILL REST UP FROM STRENUOUS LABORS AS WIRELESS OPERATOR

Jason Killgore of 507 Vine street came home last Sunday to spend a month with his father. He had just returned from his regular trip on the "City of Para" from San Francisco to Panama Canal and return and as he had been working very steadily for more than two years decided to take a little rest and get acquainted with Dad again. Jason graduated from both grammar and High School in Glendale. He took up wireless work while still in the former and by the time the war came home to us and all but public wireless stations were ordered dismantled, he had become an expert operator. He had no trouble in securing work after he had passed the examination with high grades and was sent out first as a helper. He made more than one trip to the Hawaiian Islands. His longest single trip was to China, the Philippines and Japan. From this journey he returned via New York City and came across the continent by rail.

For the last several months Jason has been on a regular run between the Golden Gate and Panama, with frequent stops at ports between to land or take on passengers and freight. He and his mate go on duty alternately in two seven-hour stretches beginning at 6 p. m. and then in 5-hour watches for the remaining 24 hours of a day. While their work is exacting yet there is none of the sordid drudgery that attaches to the regular sailors' life. Their cabin, in which are all their

UNABLE TO RENT, THEY BUY

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Mussetter of Victor, Iowa, their daughter and son, Margaret and Frank Mussetter, came here very recently in the expectation of spending the coming nine months. They are friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, and several other Glendale families as they were here last spring and felt they would be more at home here than elsewhere. The parents came by train, the young people by motorcycles. Being unsuccessful in finding anything to rent the Mussetters have bought a home on Doran street just west of Central.

RED CROSS MEETING

LOCAL OFFICIALS RECEIVE FINANCIAL REPORTS AND VOTE FUNDS FOR PACIFIC DIVISION

The Executive Board of Glendale Red Cross Chapter held its monthly meeting at the headquarters on Brand boulevard Wednesday afternoon, those present being: Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman; Ezra Parker, vice-chairman; Mrs. John Robert White, secretary; C. D. Lusby, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Blackburn, cashier, and Mrs. A. A. Barton. The chief item of business was a vote to send away $1000 of the funds on hand to the Pacific Division for the treasury of the national organization to be used in Red Cross work abroad. Other necessary business was transacted and financial statements for September and previous months were submitted and approved. These reports showed most encouraging returns from the Red Cross Shop.

Receipts for July totaled $262.67, which with cash on hand ($2,396.29) made total resources of $2,658.96. The expenditures including $1500 forwarded to the Pacific Coast Division were $1,603.22, leaving a balance of cash on hand of $1,055.74.

Receipts for August totaled $69. This with cash on hand as above made total receipts of $1,124.74. Expenditures were $57.12, leaving cash balance on hand $1067.62.

September receipts were $186.63, which, with cash on hand, made total cash resources of $1,254.25. Expenditures were $26.18, leaving cash balance on hand, $1,228.07. September receipts from the shop totaled nearly $100.

Of this amount, as stated above, the board voted to send $1000 to the Pacific Coast Division.

Announcement was made that classes in first aid and in home nursing would be inaugurated if a sufficient number of applicants presented themselves and gave their names to Mrs. Blackburn, who is at headquarters every Monday.

The chairman of the board stated that inasmuch as the chapter has turned in its full quota of funds to the national organization, it will not be asked to inaugurate any drives except the annual drive for memberships which will take place between the 2d and 11th of November.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

INAUGURATED AT GLENDALE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH FELLOWSHIP SUPPER, PROGRAM

Members of the Ladies' Aid of the Glendale Presbyterian Church again demonstrated their domestic efficiency in a splendid fellowship supper served at the church Wednesday evening to inaugurate the fourth annual Bible Conference to be held October 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th at the church in afternoon and evening sessions. Covers were laid for 200 and there were not many vacant seats. Rev. W. E. Edmonds presided. Rev. McIlachlan was called upon to invoke the divine blessing, and an excellent after-dinner talk was made by Dr. Campbell Coyle of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church on "Some Things We Believe." He is a pleasant, easy orator and spoke with conviction. The beliefs upon which he dwelt were summarized at the close of his address as follows:

"We believe in a personal God to whom an accounting must be given. We believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ.

"We believe absolutely in the divine inspiration of the scriptures. We believe in the fall of Man.

"We believe in endless death for the impenitent and endless life for the penitent.

"We believe in the shed blood of Jesus as the only hope for Man through time and eternity."

The speaker declared that we are living in the most interesting time in history, also in the most dangerous and the time of greatest opportunity. "It is a time," said he, "in which there is a world-wide play of extraordinary forces and it is a time when the things most sincerely believed

NORTH FAVORED IN AUTO DELIVERIES

Jesse Smith returned Monday from a brief business and pleasure trip to San Francisco where he made some investigations to ascertain how auto deliveries there compared with those of Southern California. He discovered that the factories are doing better by that territory than here, that is, making more prompt deliveries. He explains it by saying it is not so big an auto territory as Southern California and for that reason is more easily covered. The factories can more readily estimate the number of cars that will be required and can come closer to meeting the estimate. In this part of the state the demand far outruns the estimates in spite of the allowed increase of 25 to 50 per cent. Mr. Smith asked to have the estimate increased one hundred per cent, but was denied and in consequence his agency is about six weeks behind on deliveries.

MRS. PURNELL RETURNS

Mrs. Louise Purnell, who recently went to Marietta Hot Springs for recuperation from paint poisoning, was very ill while there. She has returned to Glendale, but is still far from well. An attack of poison oak, paint poisoning, overwork and worry in connection with improvements in the property where she is now living at 353 Ivy street proved too great a tax on her ordinarily vigorous health which broke under the strain. She says she has neighbors who are "dear as a relation" and she is hopeful that now she will get back to her normal physical condition.

RETURNS TO "SLEEPY HOLLOW"

Mrs. Kinney, wife of Major C. G. Kinney, who is stationed at Fort Sheridan near Chicago, with her children Margaret, Jane and Charles Gordon Kinney, is established at "Sleepy Hollow" at 1041 South Verdugo Road for the winter. Mrs. Kinney on Monday evening was hostess at a family dinner given in welcome of her sister, Mrs. Sue Mac Laueham Freundt, of Butte, Montana, Collie E. Kinney of Glendale being a guest. Beautiful roses from the garden of the hostess centered the table which was beautiful in all its appointments.

MEXICAN LABOR SHORTAGE

Mervyn Mills, accountant for the Glendale-Montrose Railway, says the company is finding it very difficult to secure Mexican labor. It has been the practice to keep a gang of ten or fifteen, but now they can get none, although paying as high as $3.00 per day. Mr. Mills says that some are probably working in the Valley vineyards and others have returned to Mexico as a number of them announced their intention of returning to the land across the Rio Grande.

PRESIDENT'S CONDITION NOT VERY GOOD

THOUGH NO ALARMING SYMPTOMS HAVE DEVELOPED SPECIALISTS HAVE BEEN CALLED IN CONSULTATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Admiral Grayson issued a statement this afternoon saying: "The president had a fairly good night but his condition is not at all good this morning."

Admiral Grayson has called in consultation Dr. S. F. Bercum, a nerve specialist, and later may call an eye specialist. He has also consulted Drs. Stitt and Bennis at the Naval Department. The president is in a highly nervous condition but no really alarming symptoms have developed. Physicians are having great difficulty in keeping him from working.

JUDGE GARY STUBBORN

FLATLY TELLS SENATE STRIKE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE: "I CANNOT TALK ABOUT COMPROMISE NOW."

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Judge Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, continuing his testimony in the Senate Steel Strike investigation flatly told the committee today that: "I cannot talk about compromise at the present time."

He declared the proposal for the committee to visit the steel district might delay final settlement of the strike. He said the committee might extend the investigation now planned and the strikers might misunderstand the purpose if the present plan is carried out.

ROYALTY FROM BELGIUM ARRIVE

KING ALBERT AND HIS QUEEN RECEIVE DEMOCRATIC RECEPTION AND EXPRESS PLEASURE IN VISITING U. S.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 2.—The steamer General Washington, bringing King Albert of Belgium and his royal party to the United States, landed at Hoboken Pier at 12:05 this afternoon. The king and queen were given a perfectly democratic welcome. It is the first time in history that a ruling king has been on American soil.

King Albert issued a statement expressing his pleasure in being able to visit the United States and declared that the Commission for Relief in Belgium will be a sacred memory in Belgium for all time. He commended America's part in the great war and praised the army and navy.

RACE RIOTING IN ARKANSAS

SEVERAL WHITES AND NEGROES KILLED YESTERDAY AND THIS MORNING AT ELAINE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

HELENA, Ark., Oct. 2.—A telephone message received here today stated that race rioting was resumed in Elaine—which is near here—this morning and from three to six men had been killed in addition to three whites and five negroes killed yesterday. One hundred men who had been arrested at Elaine were brought here for safety, the authorities fearing that a mob might raid the Elaine jail, and free them. Five hundred soldiers have arrived at Elaine and also several hundred home guards from near-by towns. Later advices said that the total fatalities in race riots is four whites and seven negroes, but several additional negroes are believed to have been killed.

LANDING OF MARINES IN DALMATIA

REAR ADMIRAL KNAPP CABLES IT WAS DONE AT REQUEST OF ITALIAN AUTHORITIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Rear Admiral Knapp commanding the American naval forces in Europe cabled the naval department that the landing of American marines on the Dalmatian coast was made at the request of the Italian authorities and prevented "a very serious incident which might have resulted in open warfare between the Serbians and Italians."

Secretary Daniels forwarded this report to the Senate as an answer to the resolution requesting information which was passed several days ago.

FAVORABLE WEATHER FOR WORLD SERIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—Clear weather with bright sun and indications of a hot day marked the second day for the World's Series of ball games.

ENGINEER ADVISES

JAS. W. REAGAN IN CHARGE OF CO. FLOOD CONTROL WORK, SETS FORTH DANGERS

Jas. W. Reagan, chief engineer of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District, has written the Board of Supervisors of the county making important suggestions regarding measures he deems vitally necessary to take for the control of floods this winter in view of the recent forest fires along the watersheds in this and San Bernardino counties. His opening statement is as follows: "The burning over of 50 per cent of the watershed of the Los Angeles District is such an unfortunate calamity that we are almost terrified in thinking of the results that will accrue should we, this winter, have such a period of rainfall as we had in 1914 and 1916." He reports that, after consultation with a number of engineers of the county and many men who have for many years been studying flood control conditions and results in the Los Angeles District, he has found not one but feels as he does, that there is nothing to do beyond rushing the work upon the construction of check dams everywhere that men can be secured. Mr. Reagan recommended that wherever possible money voted for other canyon and mountain projects be diverted to this vital work of building check dams, as it can be replaced next year when the danger is past. As to the Pacoima watershed, north-west of Glendale, he recommended a diversion of $25,000 or more from the money set apart for the construction of the Pacoima dam. He closes the communication with the following significant statement, which every inhabitant of cities endangered by possible winter floods, and Glendale is one of these, should carefully ponder over:

"The problem of securing sufficient labor is a serious one. A committee from Clearwater yesterday approached me to clear the river channel in that section and when I asked them if they could secure some local labor to help do the work, they said there was not a laboring man to be found in their section. Three days ago when I asked the people in the vicinity of Downey if they could furnish me some local labor to clear out the channel near the County Farm, they advised the same—that they could secure no local labor. Such a scarcity of labor is prevalent and if you approve the transfer of funds as suggested, to the mountainous section, the people all over the county should be expected to join with us in securing and furnishing every available man possible."

THE PLAYGROUNDS OF AMERICA

M. A. Begg, a former resident of this city on North Louise, who has been in Glendale this week, has some interesting statistics in regard to the use of our national playgrounds in the west by the people of the United States. For most of the summer months he was with a transportation company at Mammoth Lake and so had first-hand opportunities to observe the travel. He says that government records show that over ten thousand private cars made the tour of the Yellowstone this year taking in over 40,000 people; also that more than 20,000 made the tour through the service provided by the transportation companies. In all, about 61,000 persons made the tour of Yellowstone. The travel to Glacier Park totaled about 20,000 and travel to the Yosemite was very heavy. Mr. Begg returned a week ago and went directly to his ranch at La Verne.

HERB PRICES REDUCED

The chemist in charge of the Belladonna Products Laboratories at 221 E. Broadway says that the signing of the armistice and prospect of a resumption of foreign importations had the effect of reducing the price of the herbs from which belladonna or atropine are made from $1.25 per pound to about 35c per pound. Heretofore these drugs have been imported entirely as their extraction is a difficult process which has been left to German chemists. This Glendale laboratory and factory is said to be the only plant of the kind in the United States.

Nightshade (the cultivated variety) and Jimson weed, both members of the solanum family, are the plants used in making the atropine. The company cultivates seven acres of nightshade and also purchases from other growers. The Jimson weed, which finds a place on almost every neglected lot does not have to be cultivated.

The problem of the company is to get labor to gather it. All parts of the plant can be used, the leaves, stems, roots and seeds.

IDEAL AUTO TOUR

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES H. TEMPLE RETURN FROM TRIP THROUGH REDWOODS TO CRATER LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Temple of 145 North Orange street have just returned from an auto tour of more than two weeks' duration in the course of which they crossed the Oregon line and had a most interesting itinerary. They went by the coast line and made stops at Del Monte, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz and San Francisco.

After leaving Frisco they made use of their camping outfit when they crossed to Sausalito and went up through the beautiful redwood forest to Eureka and to Crescent City. It was an ideal time of year for such a trip not only because the weather was comfortable but because of the absence of heavy traffic on the roads. In many places foliage had turned as it does in the eastern woods, and Mrs. Temple had the joy of picking wild huckleberries as she did when a child in her southern home.

Their objective was Crater Lake, Oregon, which they reached by driving through Grant's Pass, the lake of mystery and sea of silence. No beholder is able to describe its wonderful color shading from the turquoise of its edges to the deep blue of its depths especially when viewed from the rim 1000 feet above the lake. The boats floating on its unruffled surface look like leaves, Mrs. Temple says. But they saw it from the waters' edge also, descending into the crater from the lodge above. They took no boat rides as Mrs. Temple could not persuade herself there would be any enjoyment in a boat ride on a lake having a depth of one thousand feet or more. She was greatly interested in the Indian legends which embellish its history, the story of Mazama and the legend of Llao, which add to the fascinations of the place. It is good fishing ground and delicious trout caught there were served to them at the lodge. After a night there they came on to Goose Lake and found a camping place at New Pine Creek, which is half in Oregon and half in California. Goose Lake is somewhat like Klamath Lake but much larger. That magnificent trip through the Sierras, Mrs. Temple says, she will never forget; it will always be a delightful memory. They came home through Stockton and Fresno, stopping at the city last named to see the V. Price Browns by whom they were entertained at dinner, and on to Bakersfield where they saw the McFaddens. They enjoyed every minute of their travels, Mrs. Temple says, but especially the camping part.

FAREWELL DINNER

Mrs. Ollie Merrill of the Flower Apartments was hostess Tuesday evening at a smart dinner given in honor of her nephew, Miller Fishel, and his chum, Lehman Crandall. The two boys are leaving Thursday morning for Davis, California, to attend the State School of Agriculture there where they will enter upon a course which will fit them for the vocation of farming. The table was centered with marigolds, and following the dinner an evening of five hundred was enjoyed. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McIrvine, their son Malcolm McIrvine, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fishel of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Barnett, Walter Gurnee, Miller Fishel and Lehman Crandall. Miller recently joined the Glendale Elks' Lodge. As a farewell gift guests presented him with a handsome elk's-head pin.

MRS. E. W. KINNEY RETURNS

Mrs. E. W. Kinney and daughter, Mrs. A. Leighton, and children, have been summering for three months at Venice. They also enjoyed a week in San Francisco when the fleet was there. Mr. Leighton's brother returned from there with them. He had been a wireless operator on the great Northern steamer that left from San Francisco for Vladivostok with 1100 American troops. He has been discharged from service and will spend the winter in California, though his home is in New York City. He is delighted with the Gold-En State and Mrs. Kinney expects to have him as her guest for the winter.

The Brahm Van den Berghs, who have been living in Glendale, have taken Mrs. Kinney's home at the beach for the winter. Mrs. Kinney and her daughter are very glad to be in Glendale once more in spite of their pleasant summer elsewhere.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday. No important changes in temperature.

"LET THE PAPER DO IT"

The other day several prominent citizens of Yazoo City were discussing a local situation and thought something should be done. After it was found that it was unpleasant, unprofitable and risky for any direct action to be taken by any individual or civic group, it was the consensus of opinion it was an opportune time for the newspaper to jump in with both feet and force the desired action.

There isn't anything strange about such proceedings as this, comments the Yazoo (Miss.) Sentinel. There is hardly a week passes but the mail brings a letter to the editor from some one asking him to "jump on" somebody and nearly always the writer wants his own name kept secret. If the newspaper were to do all that is asked of it by these people it would be a growling, snarling thing—and would accomplish nothing. The newspapers are ever ready to oppose wrongs, or fight for the right, to demand practical reforms, to praise the worthy and to blame the unworthy. They are unafraid. But the truth is, most of the demands that the paper "jump in with both feet and force action" are selfish propositions and are usually urged by the people who themselves are unwilling to do exactly what they request the newspaper to do.

POET AND POSTAGE STAMPS

Customs and usages that are oldest and most common are ordinarily the most difficult to account for. Take postage stamps as a case in point. Everybody uses them, almost anybody can give a very fair offhand explanation of their value. But not many persons, it is safe to say, recall that the name of the poet Coleridge is associated with their origin. In his day, charges for carriage of letters increased with the distance, and payment was made to the postman when he handed the letter to the person whose name appeared in the address. As the receiver quite commonly faced a charge equal to a shilling or two for a single letter, one may easily believe that the letters of the period must have been replete with information if they could be deemed worthy of acceptance from the carrier's hands.

It was an apparently unworthy letter that brought Coleridge into the history of postage stamps. The poet, as John Richard Green tells the story, one day passed a north-of-England cottage as a postman was handing a letter to a girl at the gate. Coleridge, noting that the girl merely looked at the letter and returned it to the postman, and supposing that she had returned it through inability to pay, himself paid the fee. No sooner was the postman out of hearing, however, than the girl turned to Coleridge with regret, explaining that his fee had gone to pay for mere blank paper. Her brother, she said, was in London, and knowing that she was too poor to pay postage, had agreed to send her, from time to time, a folded sheet, without other writing than the address. Although she would have to return this missive to the postman, the mere receipt of it would advise her that her brother was safe and well. The poet's repetition of this incident to Rowland Hill, then an officer of the British post office, set going a lot of new ideas about the best way of handling the posts, and within a year postage stamps had come into use.

They signalized a reversal of the whole system of charges and payments. Instead of making the receiver pay the cost of carrying a letter, the cost was levied on the sender. Instead of allowing the cost to increase with the distance, far-sighted officials hit upon the idea of uniform penny postage for all points in Great Britain and Ireland. And as the postmen could not be expected to take time for collecting all the pennies anticipated from the tremendously increased number of letters that would be delivered, stamps, sold to senders, were the device for collecting charges on letters at the points of origin.

One can imagine how officialdom ridiculed a plan involving such a complete overturn of post-office practice. And it is not surprising that, at first, the uniform charge was fourpence instead of a penny. But letter writers, and all who had wished to write letters but had been prevented by the expense, were not slow to acclaim the project. And the stamps, so to speak, stuck fast. Indeed, within five years, that is to say, by 1845, the Government of the United States was experimenting by allowing individual postmasters to issue stamps at their own expense, and the success in these trials was so marked that the private issues were superseded two years later by a general issue under the authority of the federal government. From that time onward postage stamps became increasingly the rule throughout the world.

Without them, of course, the world would never have known postage-stamp collectors, even by the name of philatelists. And apparently what the world now speaks of as "mail-order business" could never have assumed its present mommoth proportions. Worse than all, perhaps postmen would still be collecting postage, adding to their daily burden of letters and packages the weight of pocketfuls of small coin.—C. S. Monitor.

TIN IN 1918

Tin is one of the few highly useful metals that are practically not produced in the United States proper. The output of tin from domestic ore in 1918 was only 68 tons, nearly all of it obtained from placers in Alaska.

The tin imported in 1918, as metal and in concentrates, amounted to 82,854 short tons, the largest quantity yet brought into the country in any one year.

Deposits of tin ore are found in California, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, South Dakota, Washington, Nevada, and New Mexico, but the ore at some of them contains so little tin that it can not be mined with profit.

Tin concentrate from Bolivia was handled at four tin-smelting plants in this country, which produced from it over 10,000 tons of metallic tin.

A report on tin in 1918, by Adolph Knopf, has just been published by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as a chapter of Mineral Resources for 1918 and can be obtained free of charge on application to the Director of the Survey at Washington.

If you didn't know they had extensive rice fields up around Delano, we herewith serve notice on you that they have. As they also raise raisins up around there, we wonder if they won't soon try a cross between the rice plant, the raisin grape vine and the milk weed, to get rice pudding without any further effort.

A 61-year-old hubby at Anaheim, who has been married 22 years, was kicking in court the other day because his wife puts soap in his mouth. Any man who has stood for that kind of a woman for 22 years should not clutter up the time of the courts by kicking about it now.

A citizen over at Alhambra says it amuses him every time he sees a "street closed" sign over a big ditch dug in the street for gas or water mains.

Prohibition has practically emptied the jail at Anaheim, the Herald says. That's it! Ruining one business after another, just as they said it would.

Anaheim Methodists have a new $75,000 church with an $8,000 parsonage and a $5,000 pipe organ. But we'll bet a straw hat (now that it's September) that they have the same little old $2,000 salary for their preacher.

A Calexico thief purloined a pair of trousers from a store there, so the local writer wrote. But the judge couldn't see the difference between purloining and stealing, and gave the fellow ninety days in the cooler,—that is, if there is any such thing as a cooler down in that climate.

Another funny name. Mrs. Rainwater lives at Upland. Wafted up that way from Long Beach, the News says. Probably by solar evaporation.

The Anaheim Daily Herald reports several cows struck on the south side there by autos the other night. The cows carried no tail lights, and there was not even a bull's-eye lantern in the bunch. It is reported that some of the cows blew their horns, but the autoists say there was not a cow herd.

A traveling salesman named Flaisig, who has sold needles for forty years or more, and is worth more than a million dollars, lives at Alhambra. One of his best needle points is that no firm that has bought his needles during all that time has ever been stuck.

Times are so prosperous around Hemet that one of the banks there has had to buy another adding machine to keep track of its profits.

Mrs. E. L. Young of 325 West Milford street and her sister, Miss Winifred Sadler, had the pleasure of welcoming yesterday their brother, Edwin Sadler, who has returned to Glendale. His mother, Mrs. Helen L. Sadler, who is now living in Santa Monica, came up to join in the family reunion, but is returning today. Mr. Sadler has been making surveys for the city of Los Angeles in Inyo county, but has finished his work there.

Dr. E. L. Eames of 1824 Gardena avenue is one of the most thoroughly satisfied men in Glendale since he took possession of that beautiful Nash Touring car he has driven since last Saturday. It has a special top which he chose when he gave his order for the car. It has plate glass windows in rear and sides. T. G. Widmeyer, Nash agent, took pride in delivering such a beauty car as this.

Miss Helen White, who has been supervisor of agriculture in Glendale City Schools and who has been granted a year's leave of absence, was the dinner guest last Friday evening of Mrs. H. C. Ackley of 236 North Kenwood street. She is going to Big Bear Valley for two weeks to be the guest of Miss Vera McPherson, who is teaching the school there. Miss White and Miss Saxton who have been living together have dissolved partnership and Miss White will make her permanent headquarters with her brother and sister in Los Angeles.

MORE STUDEBAKERS ARRIVE

Again the wild tooting of auto horns betokened some stirring event on Broadway Tuesday, just after noon. It betokened another drouth broken, a long drouth of Studebakers, but kind fate rained in another carload of them for Packer & White, which held them for a few minutes until the eager and long-waiting buyers could grab them.

SIMPLE HINTS FOR HOUSEWIFE

To prevent insect bites rub the skin with vinegar and water.

To improve your apple pie, sprinkle your apples with lemon juice, add sugar and spices.

When baking your potatoes grease them with a little butter. When baked they will be beautifully brown and crisp with the glazed appearance, making them appetizing.

When boiling fish allow sufficient hot water to cover, a drop of vinegar to each quart of water. After water boils, skim; cook slowly until it leaves the bones easily.

A good pie can be made with green tomatoes sliced, flour, sugar, few drops of vinegar, and spices. This pie is good and cheap.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

among us should be set forth with due and steady emphasis. An exceedingly plausible unbelief wearing the cap and gown of saintship is conducting a propaganda well nigh universal and multitudes of people are being swept off their feet and away from the faith once delivered to the saints. The recent awful war has entered all realms in its effects, material, intellectual and spiritual, and I am inclined to think it will be found that its worst havoc has been wrought in the spiritual realm. Religious faith has been interfered with by war conditions and it is up to us to bring the world back to an anchorage that is safe." He then explained the foundation of the beliefs he considers fundamental and the logic by which those beliefs have been reached. He closed with the declaration: "The world may need a League of Nations, but its greatest need is the blood of Jesus wrought into the lives of its people. We believe in the doctrine of the shed blood of Christ as the only hope of Man."

Following the supper guests adjourned to the auditorium and were joined by others who came for the evening's program. It was a representative gathering of Christians of Glendale, several pastors and members of other churches being present to swell an audience which filled the church. An organ prelude by Mrs. A. M. Z. Des Plantes preceded the service which was opened by Rev. Edmunds at eight o'clock with a scripture reading.

Miss Cox, introduced as an English singer, gave in solo the lovely aria from "The Messiah," "Come Unto Him All Ye That Labor." She has a very beautiful voice and her rendering of the classic number was a great treat as was also her singing of "The Palace of the King" later in the evening.

Mr. Tobey, who is to assist with the conferences as director of music, was introduced, and proved to be a very fine leader. Under his inspiration the audience sang with enthusiasm Roosevelt's favorite hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," "Glad Day," and other numbers.

Mr. Edmunds spoke of Bible conferences in years past and showed that they are an established feature of the year in his church, reading with interest a printed program of one held 13 years ago. The speaker of the evening was then introduced, Dr. A. C. Dixon, of Baltimore, Md., who was transplanted to England and for a time occupied the pulpit of Spurgeon's Tabernacle in London. He is now permanently located as a member of the faculty of the Bible Institute in Los Angeles. His theme was announced as "The Return of Christ the Consummation of the Incarnation." He subdivided it as follows:

"General theme—The Incarnation of God in Christ, the birth of Jesus the incarnation of Him; the temptation of Jesus, the testing of the incarnation; the transfiguration, the unveiling of the incarnation; the resurrection the proof of incarnation; the return of Our Lord the consummation of incarnation."

Dr. Dixon has a most agreeable address. He closely held his audience and gave them much food for thought whether they agreed with him or not. He intimated that the signs of the times appear to point to the second coming of Christ and the establishment of His Kingdom, but declared all speculation as to the date of that coming is idle and brings the glorious coming of Christ into disrepute because no one knows save the Father alone when He will come.

He declared there are many things that are certainties which are clearly revealed by the scriptures. Said he: "The first certainty is that He is coming back to this earth in His glory in bodily form. He said he would, the apostles said He would and I believe both them and Him. The second coming of Christ is a blessed hope. The Christian who is looking for the return of His Lord does not make a gloomy atmosphere. Death means going out of the landlocked harbor into the broad ocean of eternity. There will be many of His children who will avoid the pains of death. Up there Christ is organizing His millennial and after a while He will come back with His Kingdom organized to set up the reign of righteousness with peace upon this earth. I wish when he comes back He would make Elijah prime minister of the realm. I think it will be a kingdom of democracy with Jesus as King and all the people reigning with him. I wish when he returns he would make Moses Supreme Court Judge. I would like to bring some questions in law before him as, for instance, opening fairs on Sunday and other things of legal importance and I am sure we would have a proper decision. I would like to have him make the Apostle Paul Superintendent of Public Instruction. With him in control of our colleges and universities if the "higher critics" did not take a back seat I do not know Paul. The last certainty is that we ought to be looking for Him all the time—every day and hour."

He then gave the setting of the millennium as set forth in the Book of Revelations stating that the millennium means one thousand years without a devil, which he said was very attractive to him, and a thousand years without false prophets. "The millennium comes, he said, between two great battles and between two great cities, Jerusalem in Palestine and the New Jerusalem." He declared the taking of Jerusalem by General Allenby without a shot was very significant in its fulfillment of scriptural prophecy. He gave the dimensions of the New Jerusalem as 1500 cubical miles and said an English mathematician had figured that it would afford every man, woman and child born into the world from the time of Abel to the present an amount of space equivalent to that occupied by Buckingham Palace. "The millennium comes between two great resurrections," he said, "the resurrection of God's people when Christ shall come for them and the resurrection of the wicked dead on the other side. It comes between two thrones, the Throne of Grace which is here tonight. We are invited to come to it boldly and obtain mercy and Jesus Christ Himself is the advocate at that throne. On the other side is the Great White Throne of Judgment and before that throne the Books will be opened, the books of the dead that have just been raised up and the dead shall be judged out of the things that are written in the Books."

In conclusion he exhorted: "Enthroned Christ in your heart, in your home, in your business and you will not need to think about going to Heaven because Heaven will have come to you."

instruments for sending and receiving are on the main deck, where they can take in the scenery along shore and see whatever happens on the waters. Then think of hearing, along the western coast of the American continent, messages flashed from Manila, 8000 miles away, as was Jason's good fortune recently. And messages sent from European stations, in Germany, France, England, are frequently caught. Wireless telephone messages are frequently caught, also, the operator hearing the spoken message, but answering by telegraph code, since the "City of Para," Jason's ship, carried no telephone sender. About two months are required for a round trip between San Francisco and the Canal Zone. Among the ports visited is that of Salina Cruz the western terminus of the Tehuantepec railway. Years ago when the California Hawaiian Steamship Company ran a line of boats between Honolulu and Salina Cruz, and between Vera Cruz, the eastern terminus of the railway and New York, transferring all their immense shipments by rail across Mexico, Salina Cruz was a very busy port. The Steamship Company built a wonderful system of docks there.

The harbor is a perfect semi-circle and the docks extended all around, with a wall straight across as the diameter of the half circle. In the center of this wall was a drawbridge, which, when down, closed up the harbor completely. Now this costly work is falling to ruin and decay, the opening of the Panama Canal having killed the railway business.

Jason has been through the Canal seven times and discovers new wonders every passage he makes. On a recent trip the President of Salvador, one of the little Central American republics, was a passenger on the "City of Para." He it was, who, a few years ago, plotted with the rulers of Honduras, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Mexico to conquer Guatemala and divide it among themselves. On his last up trip Jason says his ship was in the port of Amalapo, Honduras, at the same time with the U. S. Cruiser Chicago, leaving the port just before the latter, which arrived in San Pedro harbor last Friday with the first authentic news of the Honduran revolution. He had but a few days previous to the meeting of the ships at Amalapo talked back and forth with one of the wireless operators on board the Chicago, the latter by telephone, while Jason answered with the telegraph.

The Highland Messenger tells of a little boy there who saved his dog from the pound by paying the city dog tax all in pennies, but the city clerk had too much cents to ask if it was a penny dog.

Wonderful Opportunities in the Automobile Field

The history of American industries shows nothing which can compare with the rapid growth of automobile manufacturing. In the past few years a wonderful industry has been developed. In the United States alone there are over 500 factories at work on automobile construction, representing a capital of about $2,000,000,000. Besides there are about 32,000 dealers in the United States employing several hundreds of thousands of men and women.

The development of automobile delivery trucks and light wagons is proceeding rapidly and every year sees the introduction of new makes in large numbers.

The demand from factories, garages, and salesmen for trained men is a direct result of this marvelous growth. The supply of such men is small—their pay correspondingly high. This is the field of opportunity you can enter through the sure, easy Home-Study Courses of the
